The Basics Of Finance An Introduction To Financial Markets
Business Finance And Portfolio Management
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime with his finger covered with a large cut that will not heal about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly asks about his school and wants to know why he was not seen at school that afternoon and what lessons he learned. Tom lies about skipping school that day and makes up stories about his adventures and thefts. Aunt Polly turns away in disbelief, and Tom's listless half-brother, Huckleberry Finn, starts to sing and dance, showing off his new coat and showing Tom that his clothes are still torn from the previous day. Aunt Polly is satisfied, but Tom has sworn the boy to secrecy about his escapades.

Tom goes out of the house that night with his gun to shoot at the raccoon that was prowling the streets of St. Petersburg. While wandering, Tom's gun misfires and the shot is heard all around, and eventually attracts the attention of the whole town.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom lies to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of whistle. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.

Tom comes home at suppertime and is not well about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly tells him that the schoolmaster won't have him back at school the next day because he wasn't at school that afternoon and was found out at the pool. Tom justifies his absence at the pool by saying it's a hot day and he was only in the pool for a moment. Aunt Polly is satisfied.

Tom goes out to the barn to clean his room. He is thinking of the next day when Aunt Polly is going away. While wondering how he will spend the next day, Tom's half-brother, Sid, enters the barn and shows him that his clothes are still on the clothesline. Tom decides to dress himself and disguise himself.
