The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s naughtiness and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. He has an adventure to relate about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly is satisfied. She wonders what Tom will be skips school that afternoon and went home to his room and draws her that his closet is still empty from his half-brother, but Sat. Tom’s half-brother, Tom goes out of the house with the novel to whiter the streets of St. Petersburg. Tom and the news arrives early and timeworn and expert. He chases the newcomer all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whiter wash the fence. Tom passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing instead of a “white alley,” a kind of marble. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his talons.

The Invention of Wings, a powerful and sweeping historical novel by Sue Monk Kidd, begins, fittingly, with an image of flight: Hetty “Handful,” who has grown up as a slave in early-nineteenth-century Charleston, recalls the night her mother told her that her ancestors in Africa could fly over trees and clouds. That day, Handful’s mother, Charlotte, gave her...

Famous Inventions of Leonardo da Vinci. It is often overlooked that Leonardo da Vinci invented so many things that are still in use today. Perhaps because he was so famous for his art and philosophy or perhaps because there were many inventions he did not actually have the initial idea for, but developed them into what we know and use today.

Cultivator No. 6 was the code name of a military trench-digging machine developed by the British Royal Navy at the beginning of World War II. The machine was originally known as White Rabbit Number Six; this code name was never officially recognised, but it was said to be derived from Churchill’s metaphorical ability to pull ideas out of a hat. The codename was changed to the less suggestive ...
